Cannot afford to be without them!
These Grates have stood the test of seven years actual use, and are adopted by the most prominent manufacturers and navigation companies throughout the country.

Read the following letter from B. E. Moreland & Co.:

TITUSVILLE, Pa., September 21, 1870.
A. R. WILLIAMS, Esq., Titusville, Pa.—Dear Sir: We take pleasure in adding our names to the long roll of testimonials already given in advocacy of the merits of the Improved Double-Ribbed Furnace Grates.
We have had them in constant use for a year, and during that time (although our furnaces represent more than five hundred feet of surface) we have not yet lost a single bar by burning out or warping.
Their advantages to us, in economizing fuel, ease of management and superior durability, warrant us in recommending them as fully up, if not superior, to the merits claimed for them. We would use no other. Truly yours,
B. E. MORELAND & CO.

The substitution of this Grate will generally enable the consumer to raise sufficient heat with nut coal, or even slack, when formerly the best lump was necessary; when, tan, bark, sawdust, etc., is burned it will be found on trial to be almost indispensable. No change in bearers required in any furnace. All orders will receive prompt attention.

Titusville Morning Herald

Butler's Programme for the Future—His Views on the Future Policy of the Republican Party—The Alabama Claims to Furnish Capital for the Presidential Campaign.

General Butler, in a recent conversation, said that he intends to make a speech at an early day upon what he holds to be the policy the Administration ought to pursue in order to keep the Republican party together, and give it new vigor and such a hold upon public confidence as to insure its triumph in the next Presidential canvass, and he gave an outline of the opinions he intends to present.

The Republican party, he said, is not now united upon a single question of public policy. Upon the tariff question it is split in two by the backbone of the Alleghanies. Upon all financial issues the division is almost as marked. The party has no longer any coherent force, and recognizes no leadership. It gives no support to the administration it has chosen, which was not able at the last session of Congress to carry a single one of the measures it proposed. The San Domingo treaty failed in the Senate, in spite of all the influence the President could bring to bear. Creswell's one idea of abolishing the franking privilege was lost. The Secretary of the Navy did not get the appropriations he asked for to carry on his department. The army was reduced, notwithstanding the protests of the War Department. The Attorney-General's office was knocked into pi. Boutwell's financial measures were badly cut up. There was never before an administration possessing so little influence with a Congress of its own party.

The Republican party, General Butler thinks, has been kept alive for the past two years solely by the unwillingness of the people to entrust power to a party which sided with the country's enemies during the war. These war memories will not last much longer, however, and cannot be counted upon much longer to furnish political capital for the Presidential struggle two years hence. By that time the Democrats will have fully accepted the results of the war. Reconstruction, suffrage, and all domestic issues growing out of it will have been fully settled and finally disposed of, and will furnish no possible foundation for the Republican party to construct a platform upon. There is one question of the war, however, that is not settled, and that is the foreign question. The wounds received by our national honor at the hands of Great Britain are not yet healed, and it is the duty and true policy of the administration, according to General Butler, to at once demand and enforce the settlement of the Alabama claims. Here is question upon which the President can lead the Republican party, and unite it in his support. A vigorous prosecution of these claims to a satisfactory settlement within the next year would make the re-election of Grant inevitable. The people would rally to his support with enthusiasm, and the Republican party would be given immense strength and a new lease of life.

In reply to a question as to the nature of the settlement he would have proposed to England, and the way of bringing it about, General Butler said that a special agent or ambassador extraordinary should be sent immediately to London, and instructed to put the case to Earl Granville somewhat in this wise:

We have waited long enough for a settlement of these claims, my lord, and we propose to wait no longer. They are a constant source of irritation between our government and yours, and no good can come of longer delay. Besides, it has become a question of political policy with us at home, and we are determined to have a settlement at once, amicable if possible, but if this is not possible, then by other means. As between your government and ours, these claims are very heavy. The damage done to our commerce by your pirates was enormous, and the prolongation of the war caused by your course was an incalculable injury to us. No amount of money which you are able to pay would make full reparation for the wrong you did us. Still, as between our government and our own citizens the claims are not large. Most of our ship-owners who lost vessels were insured. We would not have to pay them nor the insurance companies, who were compensated for their losses by the war risks they charged in their premiums. Nor would it be practicable to return to ship-owners the extra premium they paid, nor make good to the actual losers the great loss sustained by our commerce in a general way by the destruction of our ocean-carrying trade. We should only have to pay our citizens who actually lost ships or merchandise, and were not insured. This fact, however, does not at all lessen the magnitude of the claim we have as a nation against Great Britain, but it enables us to offer you liberal terms of settlement. Now, these are the terms we offer you: We will assume the claims and settle with our own people, and we will take from you all your provinces north of us. They are only a burden to you, and must, sooner or later, gravitate to us. We want them now to get rid of the expense and annoyance of keeping up custom houses on a frontier line of 4,000 miles, and to settle the trouble about the fisheries. We do not propose, however, that you should barter them away, or abandon them in any dishonorable manner. We will have a plebiscitum, and we will agree to take only such provinces as they shall freely elect to join the United States. But the vote must be taken by provinces, or we will have nothing to do with our dominion, which you put up to make an unfriendly power on your northern border, when you thought we should have a powerful enemy at the south in the successful Confederate States. When the vote is taken, which must be done without the assistance of your government agents, we will give you a receipt in full of all the claims we have against you, and take only such provinces as vote aye upon the question. This we consider a very liberal offer on our part, and it is our ultimatum. If you do not accept we propose to fight.

Thundergust.

Hall's Journal of Health has the following:

Don't come down into the breakfast-room in the morning with a thunder-cloud over your pitiful phiz. What are you mad at? Have you a note to pay in bank, and not a dime to meet it? Did the baby wake you from a sound sleep? Has the newsman failed to leave you the morning paper? or has a bill been presented at your door, bright and early, which you know very well ought to have been paid long ago to the patient baker, the needy dress-maker, or the begrimed mechanic? May be you cut your face while shaving, or stumped your toe against the cat, or broke your watch-spring in winding it up. May be you are ruffled because you have suddenly remembered that you failed to meet a business engagement yesterday, or took a short turn on a friend, or cheated somebody, and that it is about being found out—otherwise you would not have cared the snap of your finger about it; perhaps as you entered the door and scanned the breakfast table, you missed some favorite dish. But does one of all these occurrences justify you in clouding the whole household, in hurting the feelings of your children, in discouraging the servants, and outraging the guests at your table? The man or woman who comes to the family table with a scrowl is a brute in nature, and only wants an opportunity to bring out his littleness and weakness. If, when you come to the breakfast room, you are sad from discouragement, from fatigue, from illness, or from losses, you are excusable, and you have our sympathy; but to meet the family with a frown, and cast a gloom over the whole household, simply because everything has not gone exactly according to your sovereign pleasure—you, a pitiful worm of the hour; why, it is so supremely ridiculous that anything else than contempt for it is simply impossible.

He came into the breakfast room one morning, and in a moment it was seen that a cloud was on his brow. There sat the lady-like wife waiting for him; the table fairly groaned, not with plated silver, but the solid material. The cloth was as white as snow; the family were seated around in anxious expectancy; everything there was smoking hot and not an article there but that even a pampered appetite could revel on. But the man's favorite dish was not there. Closer he came to the table, and with the inquiry, "Did you not know that I wanted a shad for breakfast?" he raised his foot and over-turned the whole table on the floor. "It was at the fire being kept warm for you," replied his noble wife, in her quiet, lady-like and conquering way. In an instant the haughty husband comprehended the situation; the next he was on his knees exclaiming, "Dear wife, you are an angel born." Not a great while after that he died. His will was opened; his wife was executor; he left her all he had—$2,000,000.

Who Has the Money?

From the N. Y. Tribune.

The Tammany thieves have added to the debt of the city and county of New York during the past seven years the sum of $33,423,775 74. Now what have they done with the money? That is the question the swindled tax-payers would like to have answered. By what rule is the plunder divided? How much of it has Mr. Tweed got? What is Oakey Hall's share? What sum has been spent on repeaters, inspectors of elections, and other tools of the Tammany machine? Mr. Richard B. Connolly, the custodian of the city funds, was, a few years ago, as poor as a church mouse; now behold the result of greasing the measure through which the people's money has passed! See how the "shiners" stick to the inside:

And this is the man who for a year and a half has deliberately defied the law requiring him to report the amount of the City debt at least one week before every election at which a Mayor is to be chosen, and who, when at last he was forced to listen to the indignant protests of outraged citizens, made a vain attempt to whitewash over his crime by an artful dodge. Tax-payers of New York, how long will you allow these thieves to fatten on the money which you honestly earn, and which they steal from you in ever increasing sums? No wonder that they dare not show the figures!

A Social Horror.

From the San Francisco Correspondent of the Chicago Tribune, Nov. 4.

Last evening another of those fearful domestic tragedies which, from time to time, startle the country, was enacted on the Oakland ferry steamer El Capitan, as she was coming across the bay to the city, from the Pacific Railroad wharf, with the passengers from the East. A. P. Crittenden, nephew of John J. Crittenden, of Kentucky, was shot through the breast and mortally wounded by a she devil, known as Mrs. Laura A. Fair, as he sat between his wife and daughter who, with two sons, had just arrived from the East to join him after a long separation. This Mrs. Fair has a fearful history. She is a Southerner by birth, and, during the war, was one of our meanest secessionists. Ten years since she was married to a Colonel Fair, Sheriff of Shasta County. She had then a nearly grown-up daughter, but was still a passably attractive woman to look upon. Fair spent all his fortune on her. She then abandoned him, and he killed himself in this city. She then went to Virginia City, Nevada, where she opened a hotel, and flourished largely as an exponent of the most ultra secesh vews, raising at one time a secession flag over her house, which was cut down by an infuriated crowd of citizens. While there, Crittenden, who was one of the most promising and successful lawyers in the Pacific States, made her acquaintance, and a familiarity commenced which finally brought him to his dying bed, and, it is generally hoped, will bring her to the gallows. On the Fourth of July her partner in the hotel raised the American flag over the house, and she shot him, but did not kill him. Crittenden, who was madly infatuated with her, against the earnest protest of his friends, appeared in court to defend her, a jury of the worst class was empanelled, and she was acquitted without their leaving their seats. Crittenden's family became estranged on account of this intimacy, and, after he had lavished large sums on her, they quarreled here in San Francisco, and she shot at him, but missed him. Then they made up again, and their intimacy is said to have continued until recently, when he determined to make up with his family, and sent for them to join him. She is said to have declared that if he ever sent for his wife again she would kill him. He did, and she kept her word. Last night she shot him, as I have said, and he fell dying in his wife's arms. I ought to have said that a few months since she married a young man by the name of Schneider, from the East, lived with him a couple months, found out that he could not be plucked, left him and got a divorce. This marriage was greatly against Crittenden's wishes, and probably led to his recalling his family. He is about fifty years of age, and his oldest son and daughter are grown up to man and woman's estate. His brother-in-law, Hon. Tod Robinson, died here last week, and he—Crittenden—two days since was appointed to the lucrative office office of Supreme Court Reporter in his place. He now lies dying, in great agony, at his house on Ellis street, and she is in the calaboose, affecting insanity. She is doubtless as insane as was the murderer of Albert D. Richardson. and does not deserve hanging any more than he did. All murders and murderesses are insane now-a-days. As for Crittenden, he was widely known and respected for his talents as a lawyer and a scholar, and had he never met this woman, "Whose steps take hold on hell, leading down to the chambers of death," he might have left an honored name behind him, and died full of years long since. Adios.

The Grapes of Kelly's Island.

Detroit Correspondence of the N. Y. Tribune.

There are eleven islands in this part of Lake Erie, but six only attain any importance in the culture of the grape. They lie scattered at the western end of the lake forty miles southeast from the mouth of Detroit River, and about the same distance northeast from Toledo. The six important islands are: Kelly's Island of about 2,900 acres; North Bass, 800; Middle Bass, 800; South Bass, or Put-in-Bay, 1,600; Sugar Island, 30; and Rattlesnake, also about 30 acres. The harvest is now ready, and the trade is now at its zenith. The statistics which follow are from Captain Atwood, who for thirty-five years commanded on lake steamers, until three years ago, he gave up his seafaring life and settled down to grape growing and wine making on Middle Bass.

Kelly's Island has 900 hundred acres in vineyards, North and Middle Bass about 100 acres each, Put-in-Bay 500 acres. Kelly's Island alone expects this year to produce 1,000 tons of grapes, and to make 250,000 gallons of wine all told, from its own grapes and the few it purchases from the smaller islands. Last year the product of the island was 160,000 gallons. The other islands do but little in wine-making except Middle Bass. Put-in-Bay growers sometimes crush their grapes, but if a good offer comes from other quarters they sell. Last week a St. Louis operator bought 80 tons of from this island, and a Toledo wine-presser purchased about an equal amount from the same vineyards. Middle Bass made about 26,000 gallons of wine last year, and with the grapes contributed by the smaller Islands will, this year, make 50,000 gallons. On this island a splendid wine cellar has just been completed, hewn from the solid rock. It is 112 feet long, 22 wide, and 13 high. Each side it lined with kegs which will hold 1,400 gallons each. The capacity of the vault is 50,000 gallons. In addition to this there are three smaller cellars on Middle Bass, but their combined capacity does not greatly exceed that of this store-house in the rock.

The crop this year, it is estimated, will not vary greatly from 1 1-2 tons to the acre, on all the islands, as an average; some will average 2 tons, and in rare cases 3 tons. Two tons is a good crop; the grape-grower would be satisfied to have that secured them year after year. The bulk of the grapes here grown are Catawbas; Concords and Delawares follow in about equal proportion. There are several other varieties produced none of any account that come up to the standard of a wine grape. Ives' Seedling is increasing as a wine grape, but is not as yet generally known. The Virginia Seedling makes the best and richest wine in the world, in proof of which statement Captain Atwood offers that here on the island it retails at $3 per bottle, containing one-fifth of a gallon; it is a red wine. The Isabellas make no wine; they are valued chiefly for canning. The grapes most esteemed for wine are: First, the Virginia Seedling, though it is a rare grape, not generally cultivated; then the Delaware; next the Catawba, and the Concord next. The Concord is a pleasant red wine, but not so rich as the Catawba.

The trade in table grapes is immense, but there is no figures attainable as to the number of pounds which the island send out as table grapes in the season; but the fruit goes all over the country. The Catawba takes the lead, then the Delaware, then a few fancy varieties, which are not generally grown, then the common varieties, such as the Isabella, Concord and Hartford Pacific. Of these three, the Hartford Pacific is the earliest.

The originators of grape culture here were the Messrs. Kelly, who left Cleveland in 1833, for a residence on the island. There were then five poor families already on the ground. The first business done by the Messrs. Kelly was in stone and cedar, but in 1840, they began to experiment with grapes. In 1854, the trade in grapes began. In 1861 the crop from 128 acres yielded $52,000. Last year the trade was reported to be worth over $600,000. The inhabitants number nearly or quite 2,000.

Tammany English.

From John C. Jacob's Gazette.

It is well enough to talk about the last eighteen centuries, but the nineteenth century is the century after all. Although immeasurably superior in everything, it is particularly so in the elegance of its language, To illustrate what is meant, we saw two young men meet in water street, and heard them converse. The way it was done and the conversation was as follows. For convenience sake, we will call their names Thomas Green and James Blue:

J. Blue. Hello, Tommie, how's your dog?

T. Green (spitting on his hand). Bully, Jimmy, put it there.

J. B. Well, Tommie, how's things.

T. G. Pretty tart; see my new cigar-holder (exhibits cigar-holder). How's that for high?

J. B. (looking at the cigar-holder). Pretty loud; it ain't a meerschaum, though, for stamps.

T. G. (excitedly) I'm your oyster! My ducats talk forty dollars' worth. Come and see me. I straddle that blind, my son. (Sticks finger and thumb into vest pocket.)

J. B. Got it with you?

T. G. Kerect.

J. B. You're another. What ails your eye?

T. G. Man stuck all his fingers in it. but then I bust his snoot and wrung his ears till he came to tea, you bet. Is she very black?

J. B. Black! You look like a coal-heavest.

T. G. Go there yourself! Keep off my toe, or there'll be a nigger funeral, that's what kind of a man I am—ain't it?

J. B. Waal, who's, doing this crowding? I don't want any of your lip, either. If you wasn't fullr'n a little wagon I'd make it red hot for you.

T. G. Augh, what you giving us?—fuller'n a little tick yourself.

J. B. You are a lawyer.

T. G. You're a liar, am I? What do you take me for?

J. B. You're a shoutin'.

T. G. Give me a rest, Jemmie.

J. B. Domino—domino.

T. G. Shoo fly, Jim; I'm off. [Exeunt ambo.]

Imagine some ancient philosopher witnessing such an exhibition of the English tongue. He would probably think it was "pretty tart."

Kleptomania in Buffalo.

From the Buffalo Courier, Nov. 11.

Wednesday evening, about five o'clock, officer Whelan, of the First precinct, was called upon by J. A. Taggart, of the Boston Novelty Boot and Shoe Company, No. 304 Main street, to arrest a woman who had been detected in the act of stealing two pairs of shoes from the store. She was taken to the station house, where her name was given as Rosa Comson, aged forty years, and the wife of a respectable blacksmith. Of course, she had to remain locked up all night. Yesterday afternoon she was arraigned before 'Squire Vanderpoel and plead guilty to petit larceny. Amid many demonstrations of weeping and penitence she stated that she was the mother of eight children and that never before had she been guilty of such a crime. The kind heart of the squire was evidently touched, and he administered a fitting rebuke to the woman who could so far forget her duty to her husband and children as to blast her own reputation in such a manner. He said, however that his duty was clear, as shoplifting was something entirely different in its nature from other grades of larceny and burglary and was becoming of such frequent occurrence in the city as to demand the severest penalty, whenever detected; but, in consequence of the woman's family, and this being the first offence, although he felt he was doing wrong, he would merely impose a fine of ten dollars. Mrs. Comsom appeared to fully realize the degrading position in which she had placed both herself and family, and, sensible of the mercy of the kind-hearted judge, paid her fine and departed a wiser if not a better woman.

The next Congress.

Of the 217 members of the 42d Congress 135 are Republicans and 82 Democrats, a clear majority of 53 Republican votes, and seventeen more are to be elected in the spring, making the whole number 244 members. The States yet to elect will not diminish this majority. Congress therefore will be Republican and in sympathy with the Administration for the two last years, as well as the first two years of the Presidential term of Gen. Grant. The Democrats have gained this fall fourteen members, only seven of these are from the North. The Democracy made larger gains than this in 1862, in the second year of Lincoln's administration. The Democracy in the second year of Lincoln's term gained twenty-eight Congressmen; yet Lincoln swept the country in 1864, with the exception of Delaware, Kentucky and New Jersey. New Jersey seems to be thoroughly Republicanized at last, electing four out of the five members of Congress and a Republican Legislature. And in Kentucky there has been a Republican gain of two. The Republican majority in Congress as it now stands is 53, with 26 more Representatives to be chosen to 42d Congress. The following are the States yet to elect members: California, 3; Georgia, 7; Mississippi, 5; Connecticut, 4; New Hampshire, 3; Texas, 4. These States, excluding Georgia, which has no members in the present House, are are represented by fifteen Republicans and four Democrats. There is no reason to suppose that the Democrats will make any gains in the above States; but, independent of any contingency, the next Congress is Republican, and who will have a working majority of between 60 and 70. There are rather more than ninety members re-elected out of the two hundred and seventeen. Besides those returned from this State, the most prominent members thus far chosen are Mr. Speaker Blaine, Messrs. Bingham, Garfield and Shellaberger of Ohio, Mr. Maynard of Tennessee, Governor Blair of Michigan, General Logan of Illinois and Judge Kelley of Pennsylvania, all Republicans; and Messrs. Marshall of Illinois, Eldridge of Wisconsin, Voorhees of Indiana, Slocum, Cox, Brooks and Wood of New York, Beck of Kentucky, Randall and Haldeman of Pennsylvania, and Morgan of Ohio, Democrats. General Schenck is almost the only prominent member of either side who has failed of an election. Some of the changes made, particularly in New York districts, are great improvements in the ability and character of the members elect, and everything thus far indicates a House of more than ordinary ability and usefulness.

Stand and Deliver.

Gen. Butler's programme for giving eclat to the administration, is by hurrying up the settlement of the Alabama claims, "peaceably if we can, forcibly if we must." No doubt that Gen. Grant would add to his popularity with our people by securing the payment of this debt; but it is questionable if the people would sustain the administration in going to war with Great Britain to compel her to yield to our demands. We have just passed through a great war, and know something of the cost and misery entailed, even upon the victors; and we are loth to embark in another, unless national honor justice, or the principles of self-existence, demand it. Great Britain is willing to take up the question, and is impatient to have it out of the way. She knows that our friendship is worth more to her, that peace with us is worth more to her than the paltry millions due our merchatmen. As to the Canadas, they will fall to us, by the natural gravitation of events, without the disturbance of the peaceful relations of the world. We believe that General Grant's term will not expire without full recompense and indemnity from England, and more than that, a frank acknowledgment of her great error and wrong. Our forbearance is a mere potent influence towards this consummation than any bluster, bravado, or threat on our part. She will do nothing "on compulsion," even the right. Let us wait a little longer.

The Social Horror.

California used to be called the most immoral State in the Union. When the gold excitement broke out there twenty years ago, it was the great resort of adventurers, bankrupts, and desperadoes from all parts of the country. The family relation was hardly known there, and men who had before been respectable, threw off all semblance of decency, when they got so far from home as not to be seen or heard of. Vice in all its phases, and crime in all its grades, flourished there with a vigor and luxuriance beyond all former experience in American cities. The law was a dead letter and neither property nor life were safe. Things have mended there since, California is no longer on the outskirts of civilization, but a great commercial and monetory centre. The fever of speculation has given way to the sobriety of regular and legitimate trade. But still her social life has its irregularities and its wild features; the traces of the old recklessness of law and morality, breaks forth from time to time, and the "social horror" described on our first page this morning, is a very characteristic proceeding.

An eminent lawyer is killed by his paramour, and the occasion of the murder is the meeting and re-union of husband and wife, a sight of connubial happiness and conjugal repentance and felicity which the discarded courtesan could not brook. When the whole story comes out we shall have a picture of social life on the Pacific slope, or edifying as the McFarland-Richardson scandal and homicide.

It is said that the "revenue reformers," as the "free traders" artfully call themselves, will not have as many votes in the Forty-second Congress as in the last. The N. Y. Evening Post opposed Horace Greeley because he is a protectionist, and supported Cox, his opponent. But Cox's majority is 1,500 less this year than it was two years ago, in spite of his Republican support. Brooks, another free trade champion, is returned by only 2,000 majority, a falling off of 9,000 votes from 1868.

The New York Commercial Advertiser says in every locality where a Republican Congressman lost his election he lost it by local divisions and not on questions of free trade and so-called revenue reforms. Rensselaer and Washington, although electing a Democrat, do not gain a free trader. The Saratoga district was lost by a local quarrel, and the success of Mr. Williams in Erie is owing to his personal popularity, and not on account of his views in regard to protection and free trade. All the strongholds of Radical free traders show a falling off not only in the State, but everywhere else.

THE administration for consolidating revenue districts and reducing the force of Assessors and Collectors through the country is confident of reducing the expenses of this branch of the service to the extent of one-third. To lighten the taxation is one of the objects held continually in view by the Administration.

The Army in Paris.

The Herald's cable, dated London, November 15th, says: A dispatch from Paris, of the 9th, says: Trochu now has equipped 1,000 field guns of new and approved patterns. The organization of three armies, into which the garrison is divided, is as follows: First army, commanded by General Clement Thomas, to consist of 266 battalions Nationale Guarde Sedantaire, one legion of artillery, ten squadrons of cavalry. The duty of this force is to garrison the Enciente and it numbers three hundred thousand men. The cavalry is commanded by Col. Zehoelcher. The second army is commanded by Gen. Ducrot and divided into three corps, the First commanded by Gen. Venay; the Second by Gen. Gevault, and the Third by Gen. Dexea. The army consists of thirty-eight divisions of infantry and one division of cavalry, and numbers 135,099 men, all regulars. Its duty will be to make a sortie, or strive to force its way through the Prussian lines and join the army coming from the Loire. The third army is commanded by General Trochu, and comprises seven divisions of infantry and one of cavalry and numbers 130,000 Mobiles and marines. Its duty is to defend the forts and undertake operations near them. Trochu's staff is composed of General Schinitz, Chief; General Guian, Chief of Artillery; Generals Chaband and Latour, Chief Engineers; General Wolfe, Chief Commissary. The Eight division of the Third army are commanded respectively by Trochu, Soumain, De Houghes, Laranie and Pathman. Trochu informed his troops in a recent speech that the whole force of Germans around Paris is only 200,000 men, spread over a circle of investment sixty miles in circumference, and when the proper time has arrived he will easily break this attenuated circle.

An official report shows that the provisions are sufficient to give fresh meat, bacon, bread and dried vegetables, in all two pounds of solid food per day to each inhabitant until the 29th of January.

A World correspondent writes from Versailles on the 10th: "I have made a tour around the whole German circle of investment, beginning at Sarbonville, a point on the Seine, eight kilometres northeast of St. Germaine. The army of the Crown Prince holds a double-line entrenched position, extending from the west to the southeast side of the city of Chelle, a point on the Marve, near the junction of the Strasbourg railroad with the river. This line is forty-five miles long, taking in St. Germaine, Marley, Versailles, Soissons, Oharey, Noisy and Le Grande. The army of the Crown Prince of Saxony holds a line extending from Chelles, around north and northeast of the city twenty miles long, touching Mount Fermile, Severan, Gorges, and Sanois. Troops are quartered in all the houses of these villages and some in wooden barracks and are so scattered that it is difficult to describe their strength. They are apparently so arranged as to be able to concentrate sixty or seventy thousand men on any point attacked, within two hours. To concentrate a larger force will require six or seven hours. No doubt the health of the troops is greatly improved. The sick lists are daily growing more alarming.

Dijon Recaptured.

A World correspondent at Dole says Dijon has been recaptured by the French, who, after a brilliant engagement, drove the Prussians from the city. The Prussians were retreating north, last night, along the road leading through the towns of Moreban and Moutache.

A World correspondent at Versailles, writing on the 11th, says: Moltke said, yesterday: "Paris will hold out almost four weeks longer. I deplore the folly of the French in refusing to yield and the necessity for devastating the country." The opinion of the army concerning the entry of Paris is with that of Moltke, the men, however, are terribly anxious to get home; they don't care about seeing Paris now. The belief prevails among officers that as soon as Paris is occupied a majority of the troops will be quartered in the city and there remain all winter, keeping a wide circle of country under subjection, while the army lately under Bazaine is brought back to France to be used in strengthening the hands of the new strong government, with which peace will be made. At the head of this government will be placed Napoleon. This is the reason why Bazaine has been sent to Wilhelmshohe, and of the continual communications between Napoleon, King William, Bismarck and the Imperialists of England and Belgium.

Affairs at Rome.

A special dispatch from Florence says: A forcible entrance to the Quirinal has been effected. Commendatoro Spagna being asked for the keys to the Palace, said he had consigned them to Antonelli. The Cardinal being applied to, said he had given them to the Pope. No one ventured to ask the Pope for them, but a locksmith was employed to pick the locks, when the Palace was entered. An inventory was then taken of all the contents. An immense collection of Papal antiquities was seized.

Circular from Gortschakoff.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 15.

A circular of Prince Gortschakoff concerning the treaty of Paris of 1856, is dated Oct. 31st. It recites successive alterations and violations of European treaties, among them that of 1856. It is unable to see why Russia should observe the latter when it had been disregarded by the other powers. Therefore, Russia disavows the obligation to the limited enjoyment of and use of the Euzine, and invites the Sultan to enjoy equal rights with her. She has no wish to rekendle the Eastern question and only aims at increasing her defensive strength. The government has proposed as a compromise a substitute, which is the assaugement of the question at issue on an equitable and therefore permanent basis.

Additional French reports confirm the re-capture of Dijon by the French.

Churches in France are offering their bells to be cast into cannon.

Prince Frederick Charles has reached the river Youne. His columns converge at Deus, and he will cross the river to the assistance of Voudertan with an army estimated at one hundred thousand men.

A Herald special dated London, 15th inst., says: A special correspondent writing from Rouen on the 13th, says: The spirit of the people is excellent. The victory at Orleans had a tremendious effect here. The Prussians are reported still at Giorses, having made a northward movement. There are about 25,000 troops here, including a large force of artillery. Rouen is not fortified.

Great Sortie Expected.

A Herald correspondent writes from Versailles on the 11th: A great sortie from Paris is expected about the 18th or 20th, and efforts to resist the attack are vigorously pressed forward. I have good reason for advising you not to place too much confidence in the reports of the success of the Army of the Loire. Von Der Taun's small force is falling steadily back, in accordance with a well understood plan. No doubt he will lose a considerable number of men, but the sacrifice will be the same as at Gravelott. It is intended to hold the Loire army in check. Meanwhile Frederick Charles is steadily pushing on, and is even now nearly within striking distance of Paladenes' right flank. I believe I can confidently assure you that unless Molke's plan fail, as they have not yet failed since the commencement of the war, the army of the Loire will find itself in a trap, and the chances of another disastrous capitulation are imminent. Large reinforcements and a big convoy of guns made their appearance at St. Denis yesterday morning.

Capitulation of Verdun.

A Tribune correspondent at Verdun writing the 9th, says: I have just entered the town, the fortress of which surrendered to Gen. Von Gayle with 4,000 prisoners, including two generals and about 100 officers. The citadel has suffered much from the bombardment and most of the caisons and store rooms are ruined.

Russian Envoy.

A special envoy from St. Petersburg reached headquarters yesterday, and held an interview with the King in the presence of the Crown Prince, Bismarck and Von Moltke.

Minister Motley Recalled.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.

On Friday last the President directed Secretary Fish to send a cable dispatch to London, peremptorily recalling Motley as Minister to England, Moran, Secretary of Legation, to act as charge de affairs until a Minister is appointed. The President gives as a reason for this immediate action the necessity for instant decision in the fishery controversy with Canada, and other differences with this government which he does not feel inclined to intrust to the management of Motley.

A Denial.

Several gentlemen in high official positions, denied to-day, the truth of the report that the President has recalled Minister Motley, and instructed him to turn over the affairs of the legation to Secretary Moran. The Evening Star says it is authorized by the proper authority to state that there is no truth in the report. It may be added that Motley has been waiting several months the arrival of his successor, and consequently has not initiated any measure of importance, nor is such his intention with the British Government.

The Internal Revenue Commissionership.

A lively contest is arising over the vacant Commissionership of Internal Revenue, and different sections are pressing their claims with much strength. All appear greatly interested in the contest, but it is still impossible to give any opinion as to the result. General Woodford has many friends who urge his fitness, but it is unknown if he would accept. Douglass, present acting Commissioner, continues to hold his strength and is still pressed by Pennsylvania. It was stated yesterday by a Senator that Senator Morton received from the President a promise that he would appoint Col. Wm. Cumback, of Indiana, if that gentleman would accept. It is known the President is anxious to recognize Cumback and that he is only waiting for indications of his wish.

Collecting Revenue.

From the statement now preparing in the office of the Fifth Auditor of the Treasury Department, which, when completed, will show the cost of assessing and collecting the Internal Revenue in every district in New York. It appears that the ratio of expenses in the cities of Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis, and other Western cities, in collecting revenue is only half that incurred by New York, Philadelphia, New Orleans and other cities in the North and South.

Politicians.

Rumors of changes in government officials are drawing a large crowd of politicians and officers to this city.

Revenue Matters.

Jay Gould, President of the Erie Railroad Company, wrote to the Internal Revenue Bureau that he learned an assessment had been returned by the Supervisor against that company for tax on gross receipts and earnings, alleged to have been expended in construction, and asked that the Assessor might be instructed to afford every facility for presenting such facts as are necessary to be stated in the claims which be made for the payment of the tax assessed. Accordingly the Assessors of the Sixth New York District were instructed to proceed with the investigation which had already commenced according to the provisions of section 14 of the act of July, 1864, as the amendment of which would give the company ample facilities for presenting the fact that they may desire bearing on the company's liability to tax, and the Assessor has also been instructed to take all steps necessary for making a proper assessment. The Internal Revenue Bureau has written to Assessor Lathrop at Albany, respecting the assessment of a tax upon what is known as the 80 per cent. scrip dividend declared by the N. Y. C. R. R. Co., in favor of stock holders. The commissioner says due regard for the interests and rights of the government forbid the assessment should longer be delayed.

Acquittal of Cadet Smith.

The War Department, to-day, issued an order approving the proceedings of the recent court-martial at West Point in the case of cadet Joseph W. Smith (colored), and its findings upon the first charge against him of conduct prejudicial to order and military discipline, by creating a disturbance in camp by assaulting cadet Wilson with his dipper and fists. The sentence for this offence is, that cadet Smith walk his post under charge of a cadet sentinel from two o'clock in the afternoon until roll call for six consecutive Saturdays is disapproved. Secretary Belknap concurring in the opinion of the Judge Advocate General, that it is better the sentence should be disapproved than that the sanction of the Government should be given to punishment so utterly insufficient. Cadet Smith is acquitted of the second charge, conduct unbecoming an officer and gentleman, in speaking disrespectfully to a file-closer during drill, August 18th, and the Department opposes these findings, accepting Smith's written explanations, though its evidence as to his intention in thus speaking hardly amount to a reasonable doubt which would justify his acquittal. The order relieves Smith from arrest and dissolves the courtmartial.

Death of Calvin W. Starbuck.

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 15.

Calvin W. Starbuck, founder and principal proprietor of the Daily Times, died suddenly at half-past six o'clock this morning from disease of the heart. He was 48 years old, general health good, and was at his office as usual yesterday, and complained of nothing until half-past four this morning.

The funeral of Mr. Starbuck, of the Times, will take place on Thursday. His demise is greatly mourned. He had been intimately connected with the city during the period of its greatest prosperity, and was one of its most benevolent citizens. He started the Times thirty-one years ago.

The Louisville Canal.

General Weitzel, having in charge the improvement of the Louisville canal, in reply to a letter from George F. Davis, President of the Board of Alderman, says he has requested the Directors not to open the canal until the end of the present low water. That the Government is conducting the work for all, and not for a class, and that he is doing all in his power. He says boats cannot be allowed to pass at night, as their blasting is done after the men quit work. The canal can only be enlarged by the exercise of patience. He thinks if appropriations he has asked for from Congress are not granted at the ensuing session the canal will be closed for two summers. He deprecates the passage of a resolution, such as was recently adopted in Cincinnati, looking to immediate opening. A committee from the Chamber of Commerce was instructed to-day to proceed at once to Louisville and make careful investigation and report.

It is reported here to-day that the Pennsylvania Central Railroad Company has determined to build a road from Deerfield, on the Little Miami Railroad via Lebanon and Centerville, to Dayton. This road, besides passing through the celebrated limestone fields of Centerville, would give the Pennsylvania Central a direct road to Dayton, and would afford them an opportunity of opening a grand through line to Chicago, via Dayton, Union, and Logansport. It is known that those in the interest of the Central have for some time had the construction of this link in contemplation.

A German laborer, named Felthouse, was run over and killed by a train on the Marietta and Cincinnati Railroad, this evening, within the city limits.

New York News.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.

A New Orleans correspondent writes that a day or two before the election seven companies of infantry, with two guns, reached the city, and were stationed at the Custom House, ready in case of emergency to respond to the call of the United States Marshal. A portion of the State militia, commanded by Adjutant-General Longstreet, was prepared for duty at a moment's call, but there was no need of either force.

The hall of Cooper Union was crowded last night with an audience to listen to A. J. Mundella, member of Parliament for Sheffield, who lectured on strikes, arbitration, and the civil service in Great Britain. The platform was occupied by a number of prominent divines, lawyers, merchants, and others.

The Pacific Mail election takes place tomorrow. But very little interest is manifested in the matter. The following is the regular ticket for directors, which will probably be successful without opposition: Allan McLane, James M. Brown, W. Deumestone, Ahiel A. Low, Howard Potter, Jonathan Thorne, Francis Skiddy, Wm. H. Webb, Sidney Mason. Mr. McLane will be re-elected to the presidency of the company. He intends to build several large iron screw steamers for freight business on the China route, but will await the action of Congress on the tariff to see where they can be built cheapest.

Orders have been received at the Brooklyn navy yard from the Department at Washington, to fit out for sea, with all possible dispatch, the frigate Minnesota, first rate, forty-six guns, three thousand tons, frigate Tennessee, second rate, twenty-three guns, three thousand one hundred and thirty-five tons, and the Shawmut, fourth rate, three guns, four hundred tons. In consequence of this order there are signs of unusual activity in the yards, and it is more than likely an additional force of workmen will be taken in to complete the work at the earliest possible day. Those workmen who have been discharged will be replaced by more efficient men. There are 2,500 experienced workmen in the yard. The Tennessee is almost ready to go into commission. She has been coaled and is ready to receive her guns and provisions. The Minnesota has yet a great deal of work to be done before she can float out of the dry-dock, and receive her spars and rigging. Now only her lower masts are standing. The Minnesota cannot be ready for sea under two months. The Shawmut is still in the stocks. She will be ready for sea in two months. It is understood orders have been given commanders of Boston, Portsmouth, Philadelphia and Norfolk Navy Yards to fit out with expediency ships of first and second rates, and no less than twelve vessels of various classes are to be put in sea-going condition at once. Work is to be suspended on the Susquehanna, Albany, Hartford, Roanoke, Gettysburg and Minnesota as soon as they leave the navy dock until the above named vessels are completed.

The failure of a prominent commission house in the hop trade is announced, and it possibly may embarrass others.

The government officials seized the books of a prominent grocery house for reporting short weight in coffee at the Custom House. A large number of seizures have been secretly made by the Custom House and Treasury officials within a short time, including a prominent bonded warehouse.

The messenger of an up-town bank was to-day robbed of about $8,000.

A full bench of the Supreme Court approved the judgment, giving Asa Coonrane $7,000 from the Adams Express Company, for money lost and burned on the steamer Bivolio.

The Nathan Murderer in Custody.

BOSTON, Nov. 15.

A young man calling himself Dallas Lord, who surrendered himself to an officer in Randolph, has been brought to Boston and he confesses that he murdered Benjamin Nathan of New York.

A well dressed young man giving his name as Dallas Lord, called on Deputy Sheriff Wm. Warren, of Norfolk county, at Randolph, last evening, and confessed that he was the murderer of Benjamin Nathan and stated he had an accomplice named Frank Barr, who had separated from him yesterday, eight miles from Boston. Both of them had traveled over the country since the murder. Lord said he could no longer keep it secret. Sheriff Warren locked him up to await an investigation. It is supposed Lord is another insane man seeking notoriety.

RANDOLPH, MASS., Nov. 15.

The young man who surrendered himself as the murderer of Benjamin Nathan, proves to be insane. His name is George Heffron, of Pottsville, Pa.

New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 15.

Arrived steamship Frankford, from Brewen, with 894 passengers, mostly emigrants, of whom fifty were bound for Texas.

The trial of the Baton Rouge prissoners commenced this morning. The Picayune says it is asserted that nine-tenths of the prisoners are well known as quiet and respectable citizens, who were in no way connected with the riot.

David fisher, arrested for killing Mayor Schonberg and Judge Lawes, in default of bail was sent to the parish prison.

Official Returns.

CHARLESTON, Nov. 15.

The following majorities in South Carolina are taken from certified official returns: R. R. Scott, Republican, for Governor, 33,554; A. J. Ranson, Republican, for Lieutenant-Governor, 31,537. For Congress, First District, J. H. Rainey, Republican, 8,593; Second District, Delarge,—Republican, 986; Third District, Robert B. Ellia, Republican, 5,567; Fourth District, A. S. Wallace, Republican, 3,304; Congressman at large, J. S. Epping. 59. Joseph H. Rainey was elected to fill the unexpired term in the First District, by a majority of 11,123.

Alabama Election.

MONTGOMERY, Nov. 15.

The Democratic State ticket is probably elected by three to five thousand majority. The House will stand 65 Democrats to 35 Republicans, about 15 of the latter are colored. The last House was about 83 Republicans to 17 Democrats. Senators hold over, and that body stands 31 Republicans to 3 Democrats. It is doubtful which party has the majority on joint ballot.

The Missing Steamer.

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.

Nothing further has been heard from the steamer Algoma, plying between Collingwood and Lake Superior ports. She has been out twenty days, and it is feared she has gone down with all on board, over one hundred souls.

Railroad Accident.

ALBANY, Nov. 16.

Collision to-day on the Rensellaer and Saratoga Railroad at the junction. The baggage and two passenger cars were smashed, injuring two little girls, the conductor and baggage-man.

PETROLEUM MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE MORNING HERALD,
TITUSVILLE, November 15, 1870—9 P. M.

There was a fair inquiry in the Petroleum market to-day, and the price and feeling was in most instances slightly better than that of the day previous. Upon the Lower Creek there were bids during the forenoon of $3.20 and $3.35 for "regardless," and $3.35 for gravity oil. In the afternoon the feeling was slightly "off," though no marked reduction was made in prices. Upon the Upper Creek from $2.95 to $3.00 was bid with sellers generally holding at $3.05.

LOCAL NOTICES.

BARGAINS.—Having in contemplation a change of business with the new year, we offer our entire stock to cash and close time buyers at greatly reduced figures; taking this fact in connection with our past low prices as compared with competing houses, dealers can see at a glance where their best interests lie, our reduction being from 5 to 10 per cent. Our stock comprises a full line of staple and fancy groceries, provisions, pure wines and liquors and choice brands segars, which the trade is invited to examine. Teas has been our specialty, purchasing none but those of a fine sweet flavor in such large quantities as to get the lowest figure. Our tea stock is all new, the growth of the season 1870 and '71, being the only new lots brought to this city. Though anticipating a change we shall keep our stock carefully selected that any article connected with our business, can be had at our establishment. Canned fruits of superior quality, we offer below New York, Philadelphia or Baltimore prices. The "Buckeye" shall continue to be our standard brand of fine cut chewing tobacco rating as it does, superior to al others. Thanking the trade for liberal patronage, we again remind them of bargains to be had at CLARK, HAYES & CO.'S.

TINWARE of every description on hand, and made to order at
WEED, BUSHNELL & CO.'S

GENUINE SHAKER DRIED SWEET CORN.—The large and increasing demand for this valuable culinary article, is sufficent evidence of its superiority. It has been frequently pronounced by compent judges, to be superior to the canned corn, which is sometimes marred in its flavor by the metal. It can be sold at a much less price, as must be obvious to all, saving at least the price of the cans and canning. It is a very concentrated article of diet, can be easily stored and is always a delicious and palatable dish, when rightly prepared. As the corn is cooked before removing it from the cob it only requires soaking a few hours before use, to swell it to its original size, and then heat and season with cream, etc., as you would green corn when cut from the cob.

Orders from all merchants solicited. Address McEowen & Co., wholesale dealers in genuine shaker brooms and dried sweet corn.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Infringement Notice.—The subscriber has learned that a certain firm in Titusville, known as "Bryan, Dillingham & Co.," have commenced the manufacture of SUCKER RODS with SOCKET JOINTS. This is a DIRECT INFRINGEMENT ON HIS RIGHTS, as his claim is "connecting two sections of rod by means of wedges, wedging sockets, and double coupling bolt." He does not specify any particular shaped wedge, nor of what material it shall be made. All rods made as above described outside of his manufactory, are direct infringements.

This, therefore is to caution Oil Operators, and all others, against buying or using any rods so made, except those of his manufacture, as by so doing they will lay themselves liable, and will be dealt with according to law. WM. J. INNIS.

SINGULAR COINCIDENCE.—The New York Sun relates the following incident as having occurred in that city on Friday last:

"At Broadway and White street yesterday afternoon a large crowd gathered, to see a farmer get his boots blacked. The crowd laughed and shouted, and the people collected in greater and still greater numbers, and hilarity reigned supreme. It all came from the fact that a farmer had taken off his boots and was standing in his stocking feet in Broadway while the boy was blacking his boots. When he had his boots on again he turned around the corner and disappeared with a cheer from the crowd."

The most remarkable feature of this occurrence, is its repetition at the Oil Creek passenger depot on Monday, which would have seemed incredible if we had not found it described in the new Democratic paper of yesterday as follows:

"LAUGHABLE.—Near the depot yesterday afternoon quite a crowd collected to see a farmer get his boots blacked. The crowd laughed and shouted, and hilarity reigned supreme. It all came from the fact that the farmer had taken off his boots, and was standing in his stocking feet, while the boot-black was putting on the polish."

These singular coincidences have become very frequent of late. In fact a goodly portion of our neighbor's editorials seem to have been stolen bodily by his exchanges several days previous to their publication in his own paper. This is very discouraging to home "enterprise." No single newspaper should be compelled to edit a dozen others.

PETROLEUM EXPORTS.—The American ship "Expounder," cleared on the 11th instant, for Antwerp, with 350,120 gallons refined petroleum, valued at $84,158. This is one of the largest cargoes ever shipped from Philadelphia.

The ship Lancaster has been chartered at Philadelphia, with 9,700 barrels petroleum to Antwerp.

The Insurance companies now demand six per cent. on policies on steam saw mills.

ALLEGHENY VALLEY.—The daily transportation of oil over this road, which extends from Pittsburgh to Venango City, Pa., distance of 162 miles, is said to exceed 5,000 barrels. At Edgewater it is proposed to locate the "outer depot" of the road, its workshops, round houses, together with extensive cattle yards. Four hundred and six acres of admirably situated land have been purchased, part of which has been sub-divided in two hundred and fifty building lots, of half an acre each, and the balance will be devoted to the use of the railroad company, as above indicated.

PHILADELPHIA & NEW YORK.—It is reported that a project has been set on foot by the National Railway Company, of Philadelphia, for building a new line of railroad between that city and New York, to be laid throughout with steel rails. Work is to be commenced at once.

OAKFORD'S.—Oakford, practical hatter, in Fertig block, has received a large invoice of those new and fashionable tiles, and calls public attention to the same in a two column advertisement this morning. No new branch of business has met with so much favor in Titusville as has the establishment of Oakford's hat and cap and general furnishing goods for gentlemen, and the eligible and commodious store he has secured, is constantly thronged with customers. His silk hats are direct from the most stylish manufacturers, and his price list is less than that of any other dealer in the oil region. Those who want choice goods in this line should not overlook the advantages of calling at Oakford's. Moreover, Oakford's is the only place in the oil region where you can have a hat blocked and ironed.

ANOTHER FATAL ACCIDENT.—The Oil City Times says: On Saturday afternoon, about two o'clock, an accident occurred on the A. V. Railroad, in Venango City, which resulted in the death of a man named Jones A Davis, an employee of the road and a resident of East Pikoland, Chester county, Pa. It appears that he was standing on a box car facing the locomotive when the train was backed under the bridge and he was swept off by the timbers and thrown under the cars. The train was brought to a stop, after moving fifty or sixty feet, and the driver of the engine was found to be standing across his hips. The body was of course fearfully mangled, and was a sickening sight to behold. The unfortunate man was supposed to be twenty-two or twenty-three years old, and was unmarried. His body was sent to Philadelphia this morning for interment.

PICKPOCKETS ARRESTED.—For the past week the O C. & A. R'y., has been infested with a party of pickpockets, who have been a great annoyance to passengers. Monday detective McKenzie took the train "to work," and arrested two men from the city of Cleveland, probably well known there. Their names are "Sam and Johny" bearing the same "cog" of so many professionals. He advises this class of sharpers to stand back, and keep out of this section, or suffer the fate of Sam and Johny.

The Pennsylvania School System.

Prof. Wickersham, the State School Superintendent, in addressing the Teachers' Institute at Norristown, on Wednesday last, made an interesting statement relative to the free common schools of the State. In the course of his remarks he said that the public school expenditures throughout the State during the past year were $7,800,000. In 1866 the expenditures were but $4,000,000, and this liberality on the part of the people was conclusive evidence of their entire satisfaction in the result of those expenditures. Thirty thousand school officers are employed throughout the State, and 900,000 children educated, and thus Pennsylvania is honoring herself to-day. The great fault in our system is the want of upper schools. There is too much disposition on the part of the majority of our people to make education general only in the elements, too much disposition to maintain in the community a ruled and a ruling class. He was glad of the existence of the excellent high school of Norristown, and hoped to see many others throughout the State. Prussia is to-day running a race with our country in educational matters. Her excellent school system has been the motive power that has placed Paris so nearly within her grasp.

WE don't offer an old, second-hand stock of dry goods that have been peddled all over the Union. Call and see a nice new stock.

About Street Pavements.

Within the past few days, but particularly within twenty-four hours, the most unobserving must have been struck with the deplorably bad and unserviceable condition of our streets. At no time during a period of four or five years have we been so deluged with rivers of mud, and inconvenienced by almost impassable crossings, and there appears to be a strong popular feeling in favor of expending as early as practicable a reasonably sufficient amount in Nicholson or other permanent pavement. We have the experience of larger and more densely populated cities, where the road traffic is much heavier than our own, to guide us in a choice of the most appropriate and economical construction and material. We have the advantage of a growing, enterprising and prosperous community, to stimulate the work, and there is no reason why Titusville should not have as good if not better streets than any city of its size in the country.

The best pavement at present known to science is that used on the streets of Paris and which is also being extensively and rapidly laid down in the great thoroughfares of London. It is composed of a heavy layer of concrete over which is spread to the thickness of only about three inches, a superficial coating of asphaltum. This substance differs from what is commonly called asphaltum in this country, which latter is a simple artificial mixture of lime and sand, or gravel; whereas the former is a natural product, a species of gypsum, having a small percentage of a bituminous substance intimately intermixed with it. Every effort to imitate this invaluable substance has so far failed, and as it has not yet been found among our geological formations, it is far too expensive to import. There is still, however, a hope among scientific men, that a fac simile of this mineral may yet be artificially produced, as reliable, durable and satisfactory as the original; or that the deposits of the natural asphaltum may be found sufficiently accessible to our markets to render its use profitable. A great many experiments are at present being tried in this country with this end in view, by eminent chemists, geologists, and others not so likely to succeed, and the day may not be far distant when we may be able to avail ourselves of the results of their combined efforts and discoveries. For the present we must rest content with the material readiest at hand.

A good concrete bottom is always desirable. We have a super-abundance of gravel deposited in the creek, and at least one excellent hydraulic lime formation which exists within easy distance of this point, namely, at Akron, N Y. and these articles we are informed, can be brought here at a very low figure. These two materials form the ordinary concrete, and over this, in place of asphaltum, the wooden or Nicholson pavement, is the only one which at present suggests itself as at all likely to answer our purpose, either for economy or durability. We have abundance of time to think over and investigate the matter, as nothing can be done until next spring.

The Nicholson pavement, when properly laid down, is held by many engineers as the "sine qua none" for durability, beauty of finish and economy, and doubtless it claims our first attention. Like many other arts, there is a right way and a wrong to lay Nicholson pavement. In some places, where the proper precautions have been neglected, where the foundation has been weak, the road-bed improperly constructed, or a poor quality of wood employed, the Nicholson pavement has given way and worn out long before the time allotted for it to last. This, of course, is no fault of the principles involved in the style of pavement, and there appears to be no pavement which has either proved so durable or given more satisfaction. Within the last few years it has been extensively introduced in nearly all the large cities, and in the neighboring city of Erie, the streets of which but a few years ago were in almost as bad a condition as our own, large expenditures have been made on this kind of pavement The value of property is thereby not merely very much enhanced, but a clean and highly finished appearance pervades almost every avenue and thoroughfare.

We have many public improvements constantly going forward; we have our gas works, our public schools, and many handsome buildings are rapidly accumulating and springing up around us, and it is a matter of regret to our citizens, and surprise to strangers, that nothing yet has been done toward the permanent improvement of our streets, notwithstanding that $20,000 is annually expended in keeping them in ordinary repair. It is questionable whether this large amount of money, yearly sunk in repairing badly constructed streets, would not be better applied each year to the conversion of one public thoroughfare into a permanent way, and by degrees bring up our streets to the average standard of those in other cities.

The common Council were authorized by an act of the Legislature, amending the city charter last winter, to increase the city debt to an extent not exceeding $100,000. There can be no question that a judicious expenditure of money in this class of street improvement, predicated upon bonds payable in ten, fifteen or twenty years, would greatly relieve our citizens from undue taxation by transferring the debt to a population which will in the next ten years be double what it is to-day, and to property which will be proportionately enhanced in value, and abundantly able to cancel said bonds. If other cities can afford handsome streets, the citizens of Titusville certainly can, more especially when property is yearly increasing in value in a ratio that is unquestionably large when compared with other localities. We hope the incoming Council will give this subject their earliest consideration and inaugurate some systematic method for street improvements, which however expensive at the outset, will by reason of superior excellence and duration, prove the most economical.

THERE were the usual number of cases before Justice Strouse, for drunkenness, disorderly conduct, and assault. The 'Squire is a terror to evil-doers. The fines collected by him since last Wednesday amount to $107.

Letter from Leavenworth.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Nov. 9, 1870.
Editors Morning Herald:

The telegraph will have informed your readers before this lottter reaches them that the Republican State ticket has been elected in Kansas. Our present Governor, James M. Harvey, an honest, unassuming farmer of Ripley county, retains his seat for a second term, and Judge D. P. Lowe, of Bourbon county, replaces Hon. Sidney Clarke in the House of Representatives. But the election for county officers in Leavenworth county has been carried triumphantly by the Democrats. The canvass has been actively carried on, and the Republicans, with the fusion of the colored vote, had confidently calculated upon the victory. The question with all the astonished Republican voters now is, what brought about this result? The Times, of this city, a radical Republican sheet, says:

Just what influences were set at work to bring discomfiture to our party, in this county, in the election just passed, it would be impossible for us accurately to determine. We only know that somehow, somewhere through some methods not made satisfactorily apparent, the major part of our ticket is defeated in this county, where we have, with the colored vote thrown solidly for us—where it, of course, will, and ought to be thrown—five to seven hundred majority.

The editor there expresses his regret that "the Republican organization in this county, should, so soon after its accession to power and influence, show evidences of disintegration and dissolution." The talk among the curb-stone politicians to-day is, that the Republicans owe their discomfiture to the attempt to carry the colored man into office. The public mind in this State is not yet educated up to the point of giving official position to their "colored brethren." Negro franchise, our community is reconciled to; the chattel whose introduction into this State some fifteen years ago, kindled the sparks which ultimately burst forth in the Rebellion, they are now willing to recognize as "an even Christian." "But to put an ignorant colored man in authority," you may hear talked on the street, "while so many white men are so much better fitted for the position, will not go down with our people." The five to seven hundred majority which the Leavenworth Times talks of, and which do not appear at the polls, are, doubtless, those persons whose prejudice against the nigger has led them to give the county into the hands of the Democracy. "Liberty, but not Equality."

Considerable ill feeling has been aroused in this city against the Leavenworth branch of the Kansas Pacific R. R Co. for their inordinate freight charges. Coal mined in this city and tranported to Lawrence, a distance of thirty-three miles, costs a fraction over nine cents per bushel for carriage, while coal is carried from Fort Scott to the same city, over two roads, a distance of one hundred and fifty miles, at a cost of fifteen cents per bushel. On other roads, the rate from Leavenworth to Lawrence, per car load is about 70 cents per mile, while from Fort Scott to Lawrence the charge is but 20 cents per mile. This is denounced as a killing discrimination against Leavenworth, since the Fort Scott coal is mined at less expense than that obtained here, and hence the Leavenworth mineral is shut out of the Western market. This is commented on with great bitterness in the city papers, and one writer demands that steps be taken to "correct this outrageous tariff on the trade of our city." Such warmth of feeling brings the railroad company to an explanation. They assert that the amount of coal transported is so trifling (only 500 bushels a day) that it does not pay them to have their cars standing idle while a train load is being accumulated. And then, to give piquancy to the affair, they charge the Leavenworth Coal Company with extortion, and offer, if they will ship coal at the same profit to the bank that is received by the owners of coal banks in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana or Illinois, to haul the same at the same profit that the roads in those States make. This is edifying to us who are consumers of coal, and have the trade interests of Leavenworth seriously at heart. The Coal Company has received a grant of twenty acres of land and the mining right under all the country circumjacent; while the Railroad company has been munificently endowed with land and county bonds, and yet the best return they can show, for such liberality is for both to conspire to rob the public!

Imigration into Kansas is active as ever this fall. The Lawrence Journal of Monday announces the arrival in that city of a party of two hundred from Indiana who have come to prospect for homes in the State. The Fort Scott Monitor tells us that an average one hundred canvas covered wagons pass through there daily, each containing the settler's household, on their way to the Osage lands, which have recently been theown open to occupation. The Eureka Herald published in Greenwood Co., says that the banks of the Fall river are nightly illuminated with the bivouac fires of immigrants, who have come to select some of Uncle Sam's free farms, and from the White Cloud Chief we learn that such an emmigration is pouring into Northern Kansas as never was seen before. "The ferry is kept constantly busy, and the white covered wagons may at all times be seen in our streets." Leavenworth, too, seems to be getting its share of this tide buildings are going up in all directions, and children hailing from all States in the Union, are constantly being received in our schools. The tendency to flock into towns and cities to engage in trade and other non-productive pursuits, is the same here as in the more Eastern States, but as our limit of absorption is very soon reached, all superfluous members have to drift off and float with the current till they find some abiding place RENO.

Floor Oil Cloths (yard wide) at 45c.

Venetian Stair Carpetings at 37½c and 46c.

Many styles will be found among the above that are both new and rare, several of which are fresh from the looms, and have not as yet been offered in the market.

A Beautiful Work of Art.

That gifted artist, Mr. C. M. Pike, of Chicago, has recently executed a most exquisite medallion in relief, of Flora, and those of our citizens who desire to view this beautiful work of art can have an opportunity by calling, for this day only, at Hamilton's, Spring street. The composition of the medallion is like the celebrated one of Lincoln, by the same artist; is of Carara marble, and the subject is exceedingly favorable to the delicate chisel of the sculptor. Mr. Pike proposes to take up his residence for a while in Titusville, having several orders for medallion portraits to execute for a number of our citizens. The price of this medallion of Flora is $100, and it is to be sold at lottery at $2 00 a ticket this evening at the Hamilton's. Most of the chances have already been taken.

Allen's Carriage Works at Corry.

NEW AND ELEGANT SINGLE AND DOUBLE SLEIGHS.

The attention of our readers is called to the advertisement of Mr. T. H. Allen, of Corry, in another column. Mr. Allen desires to give notice that he has for sale a lot of new and elegant sleighs, single and double, of every variety of style and finish. Mr. Allen is well known in Titusville and the oil regions, and has had a good trade here. His wagons, buggies and sleighs are found everywhere in this section, which is a sufficient test of their popularity. Now that winter is at hand, Mr. Allen invites those who wish to supply themselves with sleighs of any description, to call and examine his extensive stock. They will challenge comparison in point of beauty or strength with anything turned out by Eastern manufacturers. Mr. Allen's prices are suited to the times.

WE have this day received 70 Barrels Rock Salt. Very superior for pork-packing. McEOWEN & CO.

TO THOSE WHO GRANT, but who do not understand why I can afford to sell all classes of goods in which I deal, at so much less than the same qualities are sold elsewhere, I would say, that I enjoy great and unusual facilities in the purchasing of my goods, and for the following reasons: I employ a gentleman of many years experience in the wholesale and importing business in New York, to act as my buyer, and who represents my house "all the year round" in the Eastern markets. Having been a jobber himself, he has an intimate acquaintance with all the leading importing houses, as well as with the manufacturers of American Goods, and is therefore enabled to make a majority of my purchases of first hands, saving to me the profit of the "middle-men" or jobbers, which all retailers are obliged to pay. Again, by being in the market constantly, he is not only enabled to take advantage of the opportunity to purchase at the great Auction sales, where Goods are frequently sold at a great reduction from their actual cost of manufacture, but also of the lots offered by Importing as well as Jobbing Houses when over-stocked, or of sales made by those who are compelled to sacrifice their Goods in order to raise money. Now it is evident by being thus situated I am enabled to sell and make a good living profit at less rates than if I went hastily to market, say, even ten times a year, and purchased my goods in the usual way. In short, buying is an institution of itself, and to do it well, a man must give his entire time and talents to it, the same as the successful lawyer or doctor does to his profession, or a skilled mechanic in his particular art.

As an instance proving the assertion made above, examine my dress goods, offered at 18c. per yard; these same goods are now held by importers in the regular way at 23 1 2c, while my buyer purchased them at a price that enables me to place them at retail upon my counters at the price quoted above. As another instance I am offering Lonsdale bleached cotton at 16c. per yard—refer to New York wholesale price lists, and you will find that the net cash jobbing price is the same as my retail price here in Titusville, 300 miles away.

I can go on through my entire stock and point out hosts of similar instances, but space forbids. "To see is to be convinced." WM. H. ANDREWS, 61, 63 and 65 Spring street.

TEAS, TEAS, TEAS.—McEowen & Co. are closing out their large stock of teas at 20 cents per pound less than former prices. We have no teas grown in 1871, but have the very latest of this year's importation. We sell to dealers only.

Titusville Morning Herald.

A Pioneer Wheelbarrow.

In 1850 an adventurous individual determined to get to California, by hook or by crook, and not having the wherewithal to purchase a team, bundled all his worldly effects into small compass, and, putting them in a wheelbarrow, started for the land of gold. Trundling the barrow before him, he accomplished the journey from Council Bluffs, in Iowa, to Placerville, in California, in one hundred and fifty-five days, reaching his destination without either accident or adventure. Having prospered and grown rich during the intervening twenty years, he wished to show his gratitude by doing something for suffering humanity, and accordingly astonished the members of the San Francisco German Sanitary Fund Committee by proposing to wheel one of the most rotund of their number along Montgomery street, while two others should collect money for their fund from the admiring citizens. Germany couldn't see it, but wheelbarrow man, not to be balked out of his good intentions, is going to deliver a lecture on his early reminiscences, and the original barrow and blankets are to form part of the attraction.

THE DIAMOND GLASSES, manufactured by J. E. SPENCER & Co., N. Y., which are now offered to the public, are pronounced by all the celebrated Opticians of the world to be the MOST PERFECT, Natural, Artificial help to the human eye ever known. They are ground under their own supervision, from minute Crystal Pebbles, melted together, and derive their name "Diamond," on account of their hardness and brilliancy. THE SCIENTIFIC PRINCIPLE on which they are constructed brings the core or center of the lens directly in front of the eye, producing a clear and distinct vision, as in the natural, healthy sight, and preventing all unpleasant sensations, such as glimmering and wavering of sight, dizziness, etc., peculiar to all others in use. They are Mounted in the Finest Manner, in frames of the best quality, of all materials used for that purpose. Their Finish and Durability cannot be surpassed.

CAUTION—None genuine unless bearing their trade mark stamped on every frame. C. W. MEAD, Jeweler and Optician, is the sole agent for Titusville, Pa., from whom they can only be obtained. These goods are not supplied to pedlers, at any price. no12

CLOTHING--DRY GOODS.

A GREAT THING

FOR EVERYBODY TO KNOW IN THE

City of Titusville.

There are a great many men who order their Clothes

FROM OTHER CITIES!

because they think they get them Cheaper, but they are mistaken.

COME ONE, COME ALL! TO MY

MERCHANT TAILORING!

ESTABLISHMENT,

And Look at my Goods and Examine my Work, and then you will see that you get

and for the Same Price that you pay when you order from other Cities,

IF NOT CHEAPER!

It is true, I must pay Higher Wages for Tailors than Merchant Tailors in other Cities pay, but I keep only

First-Class Workmen;

But then, again, I save the High Wages, which a Cutter gets, as I Cut all Garments myself, therefore I can produce the of Garments, and as Cheap as any other Merchant Tailor in or out of Titusville. So don't send your Orders and Money out of your own Town, where you will be well Fitted with Good Goods, made up in the Style.
